Over the last century, archaeologists have uncovered the fascinating story of one of humankind's most epic adventures – the discovery and peopling of the North and South American continents. If you want to learn more about the puzzling ancient history of this area, the Blennerhassett Museum and Friends of Blennerhassett invite you to attend the upcoming four-week winter lecture series. This series of lectures will cover the human story through the eyes of five archaeologists who all have had firsthand experience excavating various sites covering the full range of human existence here in the Ohio Valley.

February 4th “The Paleo Period”

Dr. Bradley T. Lepper, Curator of Archaeology, Ohio Historical Society

February 11th “The Archaic Period”

C. Michael Anslinger, Senior Vice President,
Cultural Resource Analysts, Inc. of Hurricane, WV

February 18th “Hopewell Mound Builder Phenomenon”

Wesley Clarke, Archaeologist
Ohio Department of Transportation in Marietta, Ohio

February 25th “Historic Period of Archaeology”

Dr. Jarrod Burkes, Director of Archaeological Geophysics Ohio Valley Archaeology, Inc., in Columbus, Ohio

Dr. Jerrel C. Anderson, chairman of the Archaeology Committee for the Blennerhassett Historical Foundation, Inc., and past President of the West Virginia Archaeological Society will also speak at each lecture and lead a tour and discussion of the famous Henry Stahl Collection of local American Indian artifacts on display in the Blennerhassett Museum.

Call (304) 420-4800 for more information or to register for the lecture.
